

The Manuscript is written well, but there are some comments in the body of the manuscript that need to be improved.

The authors must explain the mode of action of  $\alpha$ -amylase.

Explain what the difference between alpha and beta-amylase in the mechanism of catalysis.

The abstract is descriptive and qualitative. Normally an abstract should state briefly the purpose of the study undertaken and meaningful conclusions based on the obtained results. Hence, this needs rewriting. I would expect a brief, yet concise, quantitative data description of the results in the abstract.

The conclusion should contain more specific values to reflect the significance of the work.
