

Dear Editor In Chief,

Thank you for providing me an opportunity to review an article Entitled “Functional verification of the JmLFY gene associated with the flowering of Juglans mandshurica Maxim” for your valuable Journal.

I have evaluated the manuscript thoroughly and find that the article is suitable for publication because it has addressed the novel findings. However, some modifications/grammatical/ technical errors needed to be adjusted before final decision. Some examples are as under,

- 1- In abstract please revise the paragraph “of the development of Juglans mandshurica.....”
- 2- Citation in the text is commonly used at the end of the paragraph but in line No.63 introduction section authors have used it in the start of the text which may be revised.
- 3- In introduction section line No. 63 full stop may be removed before citation and add at the end of the sentence.
- 4- Author have used full scientific name of plant species and sometime abbreviations. Please be consistent use full name following the abbreviations throughout the mn
- 5- Gene must be italicized throughout the mn
- 6- Some reference has been cited in text but missing in reference section check them thoroughly
- 7- English writ up is very poor and need to be revised by an expert
- 8- Most of the introduction text is repeated in the explanation section that needs to revise.
