First of all, I would like to thank the authors for their study. In their study, a recommendation system was developed to personalize group travel. I think the following corrections can contribute to the improvement of the manuscript.

- I think the literature is a bit outdated and it would be advisable to add to the manuscript other research done in this field in recent years.
- It is advisable to elaborate on the scenarios in which the system can fail or be ineffective (limitations).